

Critical questions and spaces in education leadership: Weaving multiple voices

8th, 9th September 2017

AUT South Campus, 640 Great South Rd, Manukau

Day 1
8th Sept

Critical spaces and Critical questions: Leadership theory and research in education

9am –
3:30pm

Supported by: NZARE Educational Leadership SIG and AUT

Day one will have a range of critical, socio-cultural/political, indigenous, psychological, and theoretical foci.

The day will consist of provocations on educational leadership by prominent academics and presentations by Doctoral students and Doctoral graduates or Masters students who have one or more of the foci listed in their work. The emphasis is on generating conversations and sharing expertise. Breakout rooms and talanoa mat conversational spaces will be used to help provide collaborative opportunities.

Day 2
9th Sept

Collaborative spaces and inquiring questions: Re(shaping) teaching and leadership practice in schools

9am –
3:30pm

Supported by AUT South, Osprey Consulting and NZARE.

Day two has a school practice based focus and starts with a presentation by Cathy Wylie from NZCER.

The day will consist of multiple presentations by schools and short presentations by Masters' researchers and other researchers/PLD facilitators who work with schools. The emphasis is on sharing knowledge whether in the breakout rooms or talanoa mat spaces. Open space will be provided to discuss where to from here?
